

Phils hurtin'

SPORTS, P/17

The world's largest global newspaper

metro

PHILADELPHIA · WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23, 2006 · WWW.METRO.US

Murphy back on block

THE WORD, P/11

Behavior gets Cruise axed

In today's issue of the Wall Street Journal, parent company Viacom Inc.'s chairman says Paramount Pictures has ended its 14-year relationship with Tom Cruise's production company because of Cruise's behavior offscreen. "As much as we like him personally, we thought it was wrong to renew his

Tyler's 'Real' trouble

It's gotta be the shoes

2

WEDNESDAY
AUGUST 23, 2006

Now 50% Sold,

The Ellington is the Most Elegant Entry to Center City

Upscale and elegant, The Ellington is a 21-story luxury condominium tower at 1500 Chestnut Street that has been dramatically renewed. It is very much a part of the transformation of Center City, which now boasts world-class dining, retail entertainment, culture to match its convenient location. Developer Pitcairn Properties reports that the renovated building is now more than 50% sold.

Based on the classic lines of a vintage 1920's office building, The Ellington conveys a very desirable, modern yet casual impression. This starts with a sophisticated lobby with fine finishes, which showcases a high level of interior design. Each one- and two-bedroom residence has 10-foot ceiling heights, hardwood floors, and new oversized windows that provide ample natural light. Residents enjoy upscale amenities that include 24-hour concierge services, fully equipped fitness center, and clubroom with plasma screen television.

The latest news is that The Ellington will be offering bi-level penthouses with sweeping city views in fall 2006. To schedule an appointment to view furnished homes in the Sales & Design Center, or for more information please call 215-569-8174.

The Ellington
1500 Chestnut Street Philadelphia, PA 19102
www.ellingtoncentercity.com